Most of Us

Most of us think of clothes economy as cheapness in the original cost; few of us stop to think that cheap clothes means something cleverly hidden behind a presentable appearance.

"Lion Brand" Clothing FOR BOYS

The clothing of character, style and dependability is cheap and good. Made from all wool fabrics, with double seat, knees, double-stitched seams and pockets, concave shoulders, unbreakable fronts, double elbows. Every fashionable idea is represented, and we know of no better clothing anywhere.

SUITS, $4.00 to $7.50. KNICKERS 85c, to $1.25

Rev. J. E. Ducloux of Valleyfield, Que., conducted the services in the Presbyterian church on the last two Sunday evenings.

DRESSMAKING—Ladies wishing to have dressmaking done will do well to correspond with Miss N. Brooke of Didsbury, who is prepared to go out sewing.

Albert Levagood and wife left for Detroit, Mich., on Monday on a visit to friends. Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Levagood accompanied them as far as Calgary.

Paul Mueller left here on Tuesday in last week for Edmonton, where he is going to take 1 years course at the Grand Trunk College.

MILLINERY—Notice to the ladies of Didsbury, that I will open up in the spring with a complete millinery stock.—Miss M. M. Thorburn & Co.

Miss D. C. Colvin teacher, piano and theory, would be pleased to meet pupils desirous of securing a thorough musical training. Latest methods used. Room 1, Alexandra Hotel, Didsbury.

Now is the time to get some cheap land. I will sell you 320 acres for $800. The warrants are here now and you can file on the land the moment that you get the scrip. Buying scrip does not interfere with your right to a homestead and pre-emption. For further particulars apply to A. F. Maley.

The Golden West Hotel has changed hands. E. A. Spahr who has been the genial proprietor for the last two years having sold out to Messrs. Harrison and McCallum of Olds and Innisfail who take over the house on Monday. J. A. Findlay, the real estate man, put the deal through and we understand a good price was obtained.

If you enjoy good singing come to the Opera House on Tuesday evening and hear Miss Lena Duthie, the great New York singer.

Correspondence was received from Three Hills on Thursday afternoon, to late for publication in this week's issue. It will be published next week.

E. A. Spahr gave a free Thanksgiving dinner at the Golden West Hotel to all who frequented the house on Thanksgiving Day.

EXCHANGED—Will the party who took an over coat from the Golden West Hotel on fair day, please return it to the hotel and obtain their own in return.

At the Methodist Church on Wednesday night there was a special service at which the Methodist minister of this town (Rev. J. D. Jones) was ordained. The service was conducted by Rev. T. C. Buchanan and Rev. T. C. Huestis.

The Didsbury Cartage Co., had a runaway on Tuesday. The team which was driven by Jack Anderson, started on South Railway street and when they reached the crossing opposite the Alexandra Hotel the wagon slowed off to one side against the side walk, breaking the front axle of the dray.

Thanksgiving services were held in the Evangelical Church last Sunday. In the afternoon Mr. Finkbeiner preached an eloquent sermon and in the evening there was a song service, during which the splendid rendering of special music, made the good quality of the choir shine out brilliantly. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The libel suit brought by R. C. Edwards of the Calgary Eye Opener against D. McGillivuddy of the Calgary News this week resulted in the jury finding libel without justification. Mr. McGillivuddy was fined $100 and costs of the case, while they censured R. C. Edwards, the jury asking Mr. Justice Beck to caution Mr. Edwards to refrain in the future from publishing obscene literature, illustrations, etc., and failing in this that the paper be suppressed.

ST. VITUS DANCE

A Severe Case Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

St. Vitus' dance is a disease of the nerves brought on by a morbid condition of the blood. It is a common disease with children and attacks females oftener than males. The only cure lies in plenty of pure blood, because good blood is the life food of the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure even the most severe forms of this trouble because they enrich the blood supply, thus carrying the necessary food to the nerves. In proof of this we have the statement of Mrs. Alex. Cameron, Summerside, P.E.I., who says:—"Some years ago my daughter Lena, then a child of ten years, became afflicted with St. Vitus' dance. At that time she was attending school and the first indication I had that something was wrong was that she appeared easily discouraged in her studies. She was naturally a spirited child, not given to tears, but she would cry over what I thought should be easy work for her. The disease progressed so rapidly that in the course of a few weeks she became unable to hold anything in her hands, and we were obliged to take her out of school. She became so afflicted that she could not hold a cup to her lips without losing the hold of it. I knew from the first by the symptoms that her ailment was St. Vitus' dance, and I was so sure of seeing her cured, as it was looked on as such a hopeless ailment. She became so bad that she could not hold her still for the space of ten seconds. Her hands or feet were continually moving and had to be held constantly by her features so that she was losing her natural expression. At this stage I changed on a water cure, taking a testimonial in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, describing the cure of a little girl afflicted with St. Vitus' dance, and I hastened to get a couple of boxes of the Pills, and by the time she had used them I noticed a decided change for the better, and purchased a further supply. By the time she had taken seven boxes she was entirely cured. Although she seemed thoroughly cured I was afraid the disease might return again, but it never did, and she has since enjoyed the best of health. I cannot thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enough for what they did for my child, and I hope my experience may be of benefit to someone afflicted as my daughter was." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold at all medicine dealers or may be obtained by mail at 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SEAGOING SANITARIUM.

Ship For Invalids Undertaken by Builders of Mauretania.

According to the New Free Press of Vancouver, a company is being formed to provide a floating sanitarium for invalids likely to derive benefit from a sea voyage, but whose requirements are not at all or only imperfectly met by a voyage on ordinary vessels. In English form, built by the Mauretania, have undertaken to build for $500,000 a vessel specially designed for invalids and devoted entirely to their needs. Whereas ordinary vessels are obliged to follow a pre-established course and to take storm and sunshine as they may come, the floating sanitarium would go in search of good weather, seek shelter from bad weather and consult solely the welfare of its invalid passengers. The ship is to be designed to contain a swimming bath, hydrotherapeutic institute and a hall for gymnastics and other exercises. All cabins are to be constructed so as to afford their occupants a maximum of direct light and air. The Adriatic and in particular the Austrian Riviera and the Dalmatian coasts are contemplated as ideal cruising ground of the new vessel.

Melancholy Thought.

When a man really gives his thoughts up chiefly to eatables and drinkables he generally comes to think of anything else after awhile. It is related in an old book on French cookery that Fontenelle, a French author of the early part of the eighteenth century, belonging to the school of the precieuses, or literary exquisites, was found one beautiful morning lying at ease on the slope of a hill.

In the valley was a large flock of sheep. They slipped about continually, waiting for their guardian to take them home. A friend of Fontenelle surprised him, raising indignantly upon these sheep.

"Ah!" said the friend. "The amiable philosopher yawns without doubt upon the vicissitudes of life."

"Yes," said Fontenelle. "I had been carefully looking over this flock, and I said to myself, 'It is possible that among these 200 sheep there is not one tender leg of mutton!'"

A Remarkable Lady Athlete.

Amongst the articles which have recently published in issue of July cricketers, it will probably interest many readers to learn that Miss Mabel Bryant, one of the best hockey-players in England, is equally skilful at cricket. She is not only a very good hockey player, but a cricket match some time ago she made 224 "Not out," which, we fancy, may be a record since the war. In the same match Miss Bryant also accounted for ten wickets, carrying away a portion of one of the stumps she broke in bowling as a memento. Miss Bryant is now at Liverpool Physical Training College, and teaches the games there.

Funeral For Port of Finger.

A funeral march out of the ordinary was held in Littleton, Colo., a few days ago, when a full sized and quite expensive coffin was used, and which to bury half of a man's finger and a piece of his scalp not larger than a dollar. A hearse was used, and there were pallbearers. The section of finger and piece of scalp were those of a man named Luther Beckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hecker, who was blown up at the recent explosion in the neutralizing house of the Du Pont Powder Company at Louvier.

Danger In It.

"Did you see where a man found death through an attack of hysterics?" "For heaven's sake, don't mention that before my wife, for she won't see it." "Merry Widow" and I can't see it."

A Case of Bad Eggs.

Sir Gilbert Barker, who has been in Canada recently, has profited, recently, and relates many good stories of his experiences. One he tells with great relief about an English of floor and himself. At a small pest in Egypt the only other food besides eggs to be had was tinned meat, and so the eggs were an important item of the diet. Day after day the eggs were like the murdered "good in Paris." But one morning they were frankly bad. The officer, who had power of life and death in that particular spot, was determined that in future the eggs must be fresh, and the egg merchant was summoned between two continents. "Open your mouth," ordered the officer. Trembling, the egg merchant opened. Slowly and solemnly a foul and evil smelling egg was poured in. Once more the command was given, and another potential rooster was gulped down. The third followed in the same way. Whoever else may have had bad eggs for breakfast after Sir Gilbert Barker and the officer had fresh, or even new-laid ones.

Paraph.

Mr. Fry—I hear that peculiar old Mrs. Talkative, who was so fond of arguing with everybody about anything, has been sent to an insane asylum. What did they think was the matter with her?

Mrs. Mainpore—She had a fall, and the doctors said it was concussion of the brain—Baltimore American.

Plenty of Time.
A long-haired man walking along the street met a little boy, who asked him the time. "Ten minutes to nine," said the man.

"Well," said the boy, "at 9 o'clock get your hair cut." And he took to his heels and ran, the aggrieved one after him.

Turning the corner, the man ran in to a policeman, nearly knocking him over.

"What's up?" asked the policeman. The man, very much out of breath, said, "I've been waiting for the time to run along there." He asked me the time, and I told him, "Ten minutes to 9," and he said, "At 9 o'clock get your hair cut."

"Well," said the policeman, "what are you running for? You have eight minutes yet." Haggard's Opportunities.

Attacks of cholera and dysentery come quickly, there seldom being any warning of the visit. Remedial action must be taken just as quickly if the patient is to be spared great and permanent injury to the lining membranes of the bowels. The readiest preparation for the purpose is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It can be got at small cost at any drug store or general dealer's, and it will afford relief before a doctor can be called.

Topor—What shall I take to remove the redness from my nose? Doctor—Take nothing, especially between meals.

Three packets of Wilson's Fly Pads cost twenty-five cents, and will kill more flies than twenty-dollar's worth of sticky paper.

"I know what's passing in your mind," says one of the madmen as the madman's silent countenance stared at him. "I know, too, you are carrying out your mad idea, attempting to attack your own young men away. You must me to hurry you, don't you?" "I—I do," gasped the young man. "I thought so. Very well; I will." Judge.

MAXIM RIDDEN WANDER.

Gages Have Waxed Eloquent Over Her Failings.

Would there be far maxima in this world if it were not for gentle woman? Hearken to the sages of old, how they waxed eloquent when considering her and her failings. Listen to the sages of today. See when they thought how to do it, stopping awhile to call to her attention the terrifying things that will surely happen to her if she doesn't do as they suggest.

Poor, poor, blundering, headless, headless creature! From time immemorial she hath done what she ought not to have done, and she hath left undone the things she ought to have done, and the wonder is that there is any health in her.

If she is a mother, she is told how to comport herself with due spinstery dignity. If she is a wife, she has a perfect library of ponderous tomes to draw inspiration from. How she ever could go wrong is something hard to conceive since she is so helped about with advice, so teased with counselors. To be sure, many of the counselors are men—faded, have always been men and always will be men—but that does not seem to alter the case or detract from their ability to advance ready made rules for her deportment. How to bring up her children; how to care for, manage, control, beguile, yes, even how to capture, a husband—these be the stupendous and awful topics ably discussed for her enlightenment.

Young maids and old maids, young wives and old wives, mothers and grandmothers—yes, even hour hand great-grandmothers—are not forgotten. There are maxima and maxima. All you have to do is to wear petticoats and take your clothe, and, having chosen well, having chosen, you just look sweet and smile beatfully and pursue the uneven track of your womanly way.

The Rosebud School Teachers Association Convention

The teachers convention held in the Didsbury public school on Thursday and Friday last was a great success, both from an educative standpoint as well as in numbers of teachers present, about 40 teachers from this district attending.

The proceedings were opened by Mr. Lavers, principle of the Didsbury public school, who extended a warm welcome to all present.

In the absence of Mayor Sexsmith, Mr. J. E. A. Macleod extended a warm welcome to the visitors on behalf of the town. The first item on the programme of the convention was a paper read by Miss Melrose on the subject of History in Standards III and IV which was very ably treated.

Interest and attention in the school-room was also comprehensively treated by Mr. McLaughlin.

These papers were followed with great interest and caused a good deal of discussion.

J. McCaig, B.A.L.L.B., Superintendent of Schools, Edmonton, gave a very interesting address on Agricultural Education, in which he outlined the gradual widening of the aim of education to include agriculture. He, to show that agriculture should have a place in elementary schools but that the elementary school was not the place to teach practical agriculture. This closed Thursday afternoon's session.

At Friday morning the following officers were elected: President, J. C. Butchart; 1st Vice-Pres., Miss M. J. O'Brien; 2nd Vice-Pres., W. A. McLaughlin; Secretary, Mr. B. Lavers; Committee, J. A. Welsh, W. A. McLaughlin, W. A. Macdonald and Misses M. A. Shankin and E. Drennan.

A paper on The School Time Table was read by Mr. Butchart and a lesson on Literature was given by Miss Drennan, both of which were very interesting and caused good discussion.

The next item was a paper on School Discipline by Mr. L. Proudfoot in which he dwelt upon the great importance of discipline in the school room, and touched upon many points conducive to good discipline on the part of the pupils.

At Friday afternoon session a paper on Primary Reading prepared by Miss Burnett, of Calgary, was read by Miss Melrose and proved very helpful to teachers engaged in primary teaching.

The following resolutions were adopted: 1—Resolved that the time has come for the establishment of a secondary school distinct from the elementary schools with emphasis in the course of studies, such as will meet with our growing and more complete needs.

2—Resolved that this Convention request the Department of Education that the course of studies be revised at least one month before opening of school and thus avoid much inconvenience and delay in procuring text books.

The Secretary was instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to the Deputy Minister of Education.

It was decided that the association be called the "Rosebud Teachers Association." It was moved and seconded that a vote of thanks be tendered the people and teachers of Didsbury for the very pleasing entertainment given to the teachers met here in convention, which was carried unanimously.

This closed the proceedings of the convention which had proven very helpful and interesting to those present.

Fire Drill: During the past two months fire drill has been held at regular intervals and with good success. In less than two minutes not a pupil was left within the building and no disorder or confusion took place during the exit.

Squad drill:—The afternoon of every Friday has been devoted to squad drill and physical culture for the girls. With a view to the ultimate organization of a boys' cadet corps, the boys have provided them selves with wooden guns and are being trained in the various manual exercises and squad drills. The enthusiasm evinced by the pupils is encouraging and we hope that much physical benefit will result.

The following reports show the standing of pupils for the month: Standard VII.—Myls Mowers, Stanward, A. A. —Lorne Good, Alpheus Weller, Eva Sexsmith, Lily Rupp, Martha Day. Standard VI.—Hazel Good, Lydia Holm, Edy Stark (Harold Wegand, Pearl Day, equal) Lorretta Keitzel, Ross Shantz, Teynor Moyer, (Beatrice Lessemmer, Esther Sanderman, Martha Hebert, Samuel Reider all equal) Wilfred Shantz, Olive Mowers, Herbie Lessemmer, Edgar Clements, (Milton Eas, Peter Wood equal) Sonia Rupp, Standard IV.—Anna Martin, Emma Keitzel, Clarence Keitler, Stanley Moyer, Emily Moyer, Hilda Wegand, Florence Day, (unranked) Willie Jackson, Kenneth Jackson, Della Mossberry.

DIDSBURY

Why the Bubble Party Failed

WHEN Captain Mike Flannigan, of the "Bloody Pirates," gave the bubble party the "bloody Robbers" were naturally disdainful. Nothing the "Pirates" did was ever of any account, you know.

But when Bill Jones described the affair to Captain Billy, who commanded the "Robbers," the doughty captain became interested in spite of himself, and wasn't quite so sure that the pastime was "fit for only sissies." Bill was altogether neutral, being attached to neither of the "bloody" bands, and so was permitted at times to be an on-looker at the sports of both camps.

"You see," said he, "all the 'Pirates' got on the balcony that runs round the second story of Mike's house. Each fellow had a basin of water and a bubble pipe. And then he'd try to beat treasury of the "Robbers" and commissioned to purchase the necessary pipes for the party.

On the morning of the next day Joe went upon his highly important mission. "Mr. Jenkins," said he, with the most commanding air he ever wore, "I want some bubble pipes—fact, a whole lot of them."

The storekeeper rummaged among cases and under counters. After some minutes' search he turned to the lad and said apologetically:

"I'm very sorry, Joseph. I haven't a single bubble pipe left. A crowd of boys from the other side of town came in yesterday and bought every pipe I had."

Joe stared aghast. Discouraged, he shuffled his way out of the store, only to see Mike Flannigan grinning from the opposite side of the street. Joe did not hesitate. With a big skip and a jump he was across the street and battle was on.

But even Joe's victory did not tend to lessen the anger and disappointment of the "Robbers" when they learned that the "Pirates" had discovered in some manner that a bubble party was to be given by their rivals, and that they had therefore scraped together as much money as possible and bought all the soap bubble pipes at Jenkins—the only store that sold them.

Nothing, Captain Billy and his band are looking for that mean chap who tattled about their plans to the "Pirates." When they find him—well, there'll be some fun.

A Leaf Cradle

HAVE you ever seen a leaf used to cradle baby? When a mother in Brazil does her washing, she takes babe along with her to the river. Here grows a water lily with a leaf a yard wide and a yard long. All about this leaf there is a turned-up rim, which prevents baby from sliding off. And upon this soft, green bed baby is laid until mother finishes her work.

The lily is called the Victoria Regia, and it was named after Queen Victoria. Its lovely flower is the largest in the world.

Wanted It Exchanged.

An evening party was being held at Dr. Blake's house the other evening, when the servant ushered in two little boys carrying between them a heavy basket.

"What have you here, boys?" asked the surprised physician.

"Oh, please, doctor, Jimmy and I have brought back the baby, and we want to know if you'll give us a puppy dog instead."

Another Use for It.

was little Billy's first experience in riding. So when the collection box was passed around, she gravely shook her head and said:

"No, thank you. I'm going to buy candy with mine."

Teacher—I should like to have some one in the class give a better trip of the sentence, "John can ride the mule if he wants to."

Pupil—John can ride the mule if the mule wants him to.

Across the Fields of Ice and Snow

"EACH TRAIN CONSISTED OF FOUR DOGS AND A LONG, NARROW SLEW"

"D O YOU know, I'm growing sick and tired of this," grumbled Tom Blake. "Here I've been driving this confounded old delivery wagon for two years, and Skinton & Co., wholesale and retail grocers, seem to think I'll do it forever on the same mean wages. Just think of it—not a cent increase in wages for the past two years!"

"Well, I'm in the same boat, Tom, if that's any consolation to you," Bob Farrell replied. "I've been clerking for Skinton & Co., wholesale and retail grocers, for the same time, until now I no longer believe the old cynic maxim that 'Fattiveness is Well Rewarded,' and so on."

"I tell you what, Bob," said Tom. "Let's go out of this flow of this town. Neither of us has any folk living. It's certain we'll never grow rich here. Suppose we strike for the West."

"As a result of this conversation, Skinton & Co. grocers lost two of their valued employees. During the following weeks, however, those two employees sincerely wished they were holding their former positions, even at the old wage. It did not take them long to exhaust their scant savings, and 'fretting in excess country brought many hardships.

Indeed, they were a forlorn-looking pair when having just emerged from the railroad yards, they stood longingly before a restaurant in Seattle.

They did not observe a well-dressed man of refined appearance near them until the gentleman stepped up to them with the remark:

"Like to be inside, boys, wouldn't you?"

"That we would!" answered the lads, with a feeble laugh. To their astonishment, the gentleman replied:

"I'd be pleased to have you for my guests."

Tom and Bob accepted the invitation with alacrity. Not until they had eaten their fill did the gentleman speak more than a few words. But when he saw their hunger was appeased, he said:

"You two look like strong, earnest boys, who really want work. Suppose you're hunting for jobs, eh?"

To the boys' nods he replied, "I thought so. And therefore I propose that you enter my service for a time. My name is Dr. Selby. I want to study the habits of the Cree and Saulteaux Indians, who live some distance to the north of here, and I need two strong boys of 17 or 18 years of age to act as my assistants. Will you come with me?"

It did not take long for Tom and Bob to arrive at a decision. In fact, they accepted immediately.

Nor was it long after this that they were installed in a hut far to the north.

"HE HUNG HIMSELF UPON THE ROY"

to white man lived nearer than 60 miles away. Here, with snow and ice stretching on all sides as far as the eyes could see, the doctor, the boys and the Eskimo helper made their headquarters.

The boys enjoyed their experiences immensely. Upon the very first trip the travelers came to grief. They took four sleds of dogs, each train consisting of four dogs driven tandem style, attached to long narrow sleds. One of the sleds containing provisions was upset, and the goods, being insecurely fastened, tumbled down a steep gully, from which they could not be recovered. During the rest of the trip the party lived upon fat meat and tea. Strange to say, they thrived upon this diet.

Sometimes when no shelter was at hand, they would build real snowshoes, and perhaps wake on the following morning to find their "houses" covered to a good depth with snow.

One morning Tom had no sooner arisen than the Eskimo hurried himself upon the boy and commenced rubbing his nose vigorously with snow. Tom protested, and there was a real scrimmage until the lad was made to understand that his nose was frozen and the Eskimo was trying to effect a cure. This occurred when the thermometer registered 26 degrees below zero.

For the second trip Dr. Selby secured St. Bernard and Newfoundland dogs to draw the sledges, as he could not prevent the native dogs from stealing food supplies and continually fighting among themselves. The feet of the new dogs were not so hard. So the doctor clothed them with a sort of tanned mitten, with which they were so well pleased that they would sometimes walk him during the night to replace their mittens.

At first the scientist found great hostility against him. But after awhile the Indians became great friends with him. Indeed, to such an extent were they friendly that the doctor occasionally would awake to find a group of Indians whispering about his bedside—come for assistance, if some kind-Red they regarded the doctor as physician, surgeon, dentist and snowman, all in one.

Tom and Bob were sorry when the trip was ended and they were once more back in Seattle. But this sorrow changed to the joy of anticipation when the doctor said to them:

"I now want you to come with me to South America, boys. I'm sure you'll find no end of adventure there."

Would they go? Of course, but that's another story—one that Paddy Ryan hopes to tell you before long.

"I WANT SOME PIPES"

the other fellow in making the largest and the prettiest and the funniest sort of combinations. "Course, the bubbles would kill all the way from the balcony to the ground, and when the sun struck them as they'd fall you'd see some of the grandest colors that ever was—just like rainbows and kaleidoscopes and things like them. Mike's big sister gave out prices for the boys who did the best. Pete Mackney won a dandy baseball cap for blowing the most bubbles in a minute. Say, why don't you 'Robbers' have a party like that?"

Captain Billy did not reply at once to Hill Jones' question. But he thought the matter over very carefully, and—guess you "Robbers" do. A few weeks' hard work that afternoon he brought the subject.

"Well, it looks like we might have some fun doing something of that sort," observed Skiny, thoughtfully. "But we mustn't let the 'Pirates' hear about it, or they'll say we're copin' after them."

When the matter was put to a vote it was decided to have a bubble party the following afternoon on Pete Hamilton's balcony, which was quite a distance from the "Pirates' den."

Joe Stanton was entrusted with the small amount of savings held in the purpose. Work done by such laborers, and in such a cause, could not help meet with success. The audience enjoyed itself immensely. And well it might, for was there not a little playlet, "The Three Wishes," and lots of merriment besides all provided for its entertainment?

Then the contemps! They were charming, and of so many different kinds that it kept you busy examining them. One of the pictures shows you Miss Beatrice Byrne in the dress of a little Welsh girl, another shows a tiny fellow who attended the fete garbed as Robin Hood. Miss Piliety Tree and Miss Elizabeth Aquith, principals in "The Three Wishes," are pictured in their quaint costumes.

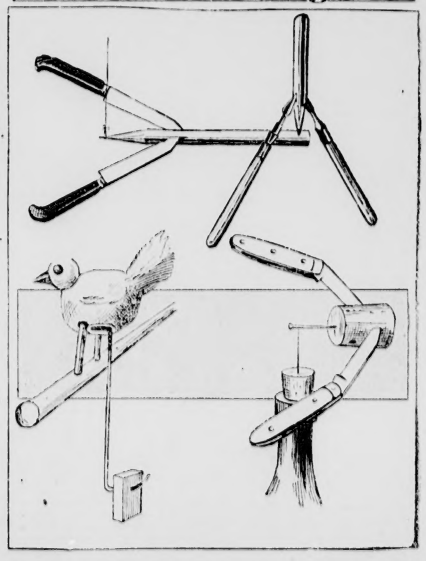

Everybody had a great deal of fun. You see, there's no end of happiness in doing good to others. It's especially true, too, that boys and girls should help their boys and girls.

Uncomplimentary.

Bobby examined rather critically the face of the baby his friend Edna was wheeling about.

"Well," said he, finally, "I don't think it's very pretty, but I guess it's the kind of face that grows on you." Edna retorted indignantly: "The kind of sort of face that ever grows on boys, who really want work. Suppose

Good Advice

Didsbury, Nov. 11th, 1908.

EDITOR PIONEER:— Kindly permit me to use your paper to suggest to the ratepayers of Didsbury what I believe would for ever settle the discussion of the Council worn subject of fire protection.

I take it for granted the majority of the ratepayers believe some system of protection should be installed, and at an early date, as with winter upon us the fire risks increase several hundred per cent. We will find at least three systems under discussion and the ex-ponents of each are undoubted right in their own minds at least. How are we to decide this important question? I should think it wise, in view of the fact that considerable money is at stake in the cost, and a still heavier amount in the event of fire, to secure the expert advice of an engineer whose business it is to handle such problems. It will cost a few dollars it is true, but we as a town had better pay for advice than for experience. I think the town would have been spared the expense of suit in the auction license case had advice been obtainable, as it is we will get experience, and perhaps without even the poor satisfaction of a suit.

If the interest of the town require a rather expensive system then I for one say by all means have it, but if a more moderate sum will give us adequate protection then by all means adopt it and get to work on it.

Thanking you for permitting me to use your paper for this purpose, and hoping that it may be of some purpose even though the suggestion be turned down, in provoking the ratepayers to take the important question in hand and waken the Town Fathers to their responsibility in the matter.

Yours truly,

WM. N. DAVIES.

It isn't so difficult to strengthen a weak Stomach if one goes at it correctly. And this is true of the Heart and Kidneys. The old fashioned way of doing the Stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is surely wrong! Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. "Go to the heart or stir the nerves of these organs," said he. Each inside organ has its controlling or "inlet nerve". When these nerves fail then those organs must surely filter. This vital truth is leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr.
Shoop's Restorative. A few days test will surely tell! Sold by H. W. Chambers.

A new series of short stories is about to commence in The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal that are said to be the best ever offered to newspaper readers. A complete story will appear next week. The series of one is worth more than the whole year's subscription price, one dollar, and when one thinks of all the good things that appear in that great weekly he can readily understand why the publishers so earnestly urge present subscribers to renew early and give them a chance to enter the thousands of new applications in December and January. It is safe to say that no person receiving a dollar for the Family Herald and Weekly Star for 1909 will regret it. Any farmer, particularly, who is not a regular reader, is missing something he cannot afford to.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not the cause of, indigestion. We think of indigestion as a disease, and as such, we try to cure it. But it is not a disease, it is a symptom of a certain condition of the system. It is a sign that the stomach is not doing its work properly. It is a sign that the system is out of balance. It is a sign that the system is in need of a rest. It is a sign that the system is in need of a change. It is a sign that the system is in need of a new beginning. It is a sign that the system is in need of a new life. It is a sign that the system is in need of a new hope. It is a sign that the system is in need of a new faith. It is a sign that the system is in need of a new love. It is a sign that the system is in need of a new peace. It is a sign that the system is in need of a new joy. It is a sign that the system is
